Mr. Andrew Jones
Office of the Honorable Ben Ray Luján
2446 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Jones:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Las Vegas, Nevada, scheduled for January 7 to 9, 2014, sponsored by the Consumer Electronics Association.

We remind you that, because the trip sponsor employs a federal lobbyist, you may participate in officially-connected activity on one calendar day only. For purposes of this trip, officially-connected activity includes attending conference sessions and visiting the product exhibits on the "Show Floor."

You must complete an Employee Post-Travel Disclosure Form (which your employing Member must also sign) and file it, together with a Sponsor Post-Travel Disclosure Form completed by the trip sponsor, with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are also required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Traveler and Primary Trip Sponsor Forms (including attachments) you previously submitted to the Committee in seeking pre-approval for this trip. If you are required to file an annual Financial Disclosure Statement, you must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $350 from a single source on the "Travel" schedule of that statement.

If you have any further questions, please contact the Committee's Office of Advice and Education at extension 5-7103.

Sincerely,

K. Michael Conaway
Chairman

LVCC, North Hall, N254
Everyone agrees the music licensing system is broken. Different technologies are assessing different licensing rates seemingly at random and investors shy away. Many artists benefit from new revenue streams, while others claim they are underpaid. Music fans are deprived of the benefit of a vibrant online music industry. How can we modernize our anachronistic music licensing system to benefit entrepreneurs, musicians and consumers?

The Internet of Things and the Home of the Future

LVCC, North Hall, N254

Consumers need to look no farther than to the home to realize the Internet of Things is here today. Consumers are increasingly adopting security cameras, lights, heating control systems, locks and home appliances that can be controlled remotely. These new applications of Internet connectivity offer consumer control and convenience, and can even help consumers lower energy costs. What are the policy implications of connected homes? How can manufacturers and policymakers educate consumers to take steps to benefit from and protect their increasingly connected homes?

Introductory Remarks:

Maureen Ohlhausen, Commissioner, FTC

Moderator:

Larry Downes, Consultant and Author

Panelists:

Jeff Hagins, Co-Founder and CEO, Smart Things

Change is in the Air: New Policies for Using Consumer Electronics on Airplanes

LVCC, North Hall, N254

Following an advisory committee's report, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has determined that airlines can safely expand the use of portable electronic devices during all phases of flight. How has this decision been implemented and what should passengers expect when they travel this year? Does this new policy create new market opportunities for CE companies? How are various stakeholder groups, including policymakers, responding? Is this a catch-up policy for the United States or a new example for other regions to follow? Fasten your seatbelts and join this session to hear the latest on this popular topic.
